K-12elearning & Test Prep

Resources for different learning styles are important to help students succeed by maintaining their interest and motivation. Traditional text work well for literal learners, but do not effectively address the needs of visual or auditory learners. Research indicates that students retain 20-50% more of what they read on their computers as compared to textbooks.

www.etap.org provides instructional resources that combine traditional text along with audio, video, and interactive links. The results in school testing has increased student learning, motivation and test scores.

eTAP is being used by teachers to increase test scores in the following ways:

Classroom - as content for White Boards, Pads, Clickers and Videos and as part of their individualized instruction for students.

Home Work Resources for Students and Parents

Often Parents will ask how they can help their children improve. The eTAP website is the answer.

Special Education - eTAP gives teachers easy access to the instructional resources that fits each student's individual needs at all grade levels.

After School - eTAP can help you meet the challenge of helping each student. Teachers can assess the student's skill level and give the student the choice of which resource best fits their learning style.

Can be used as an Interactive online Book.

eTAP includes K-12 English, Mathematics, Science and History aligned with state standards, plus test preparation course for CAHSEE, SAT, ASVAB, & GED .
