

In Columbia for the 1st time: Training via Institute for Cultural Communicators

"Flood the Five" comes from the statistic that only 5% of Americans are ready and willing to command the public platform. The Institute for Cultural Communicators is committed to coaching Christian speakers to flood that 5%.

This conference will provide Christian students of all ages with opportunities to develop skills through action-packed activities and training in three distinct areas: thinking, speaking and connecting with audiences.

Sponsored by the local ICC Chapter, One Voice, this conference is for students ages 6 to 18, from home, private, and public school settings. Training for parents and coaches is complementary with a student registration. Come join the fun.
